New products: Dante gin, water and wine cups in new patterns

Fresh styles for the Dante Bar Collection

The gin, water and wine tumbler is now available in three remarkable styles which complement the unique shine that only silver can provide, especially in the interplay with light and shadow:

"Herringbone" – A diagonally running, V-shaped structure reminiscent of the arrangement of fish bones. This classic design currently experiences a renaissance in architecture, interior design and fashion.

"Lines" – Aesthetically fine lines that look like they have been created by nature. Their precise designs remind of the structures found in nature, be it the filigree pattern of leaves on a tree or the gentle lines in the sand by the sea.

And "Honeycomb" – Geometric shapes as perfect as the precious and shiny metal they are made of. This pattern is a statement of sophistication and modernity.

The three tumblers appeal to all senses. The high thermal conductivity of silver allows each tumbler to immediately take on the temperature of the drink. Unlike all other materials, you feel the pleasant coolness and freshness immediately in your hand and mouth. The silver sheen reflects the brilliance and beauty of the beverage like no other material can and each pattern convinces with a special haptic.
